The Los Angeles Lakers selected Bronny James, the oldest son of superstar LeBron James, with the 55th pick in the 2024 NBA Draft on Thursday. James is now ready to play alongside his father, the greatest shooter in NBA history, and where they could become the first father-son duo to play in the league. In a solo season at Southern California University, Bronny James played 25 games with a 4-point and 2.8-rebound average per game. In July 2024, the young man was hospitalized after suffering a cardiac arrest during a training session at USC. As a result of this, the guard lost the first eight games of the season when he recovered from the medical procedure "that treated congenital cardiac defects". While in high school at Sierra Canyon, James was named a 2024-23 McDonald's High School All American and was considered the number 20 prospect by ESPN for the class of 2024.

LeBron James had already talked about his strong desire to play with his son in the NBA. "My last year will be played with my son", said James to the Athletic in 2024. "Wherever Bronny is, that's where I'll be". He would need to play for a period of time and it's not about the money at that moment."

James is potentially entering a free agency period this summer – he has until Saturday to decide whether to sign with the Lakers for another $51 million or opt for his current contract with the Lakers.

Bronny James will have the chance to make his first appearance wearing a Lakers uniform during the 2024 NBA Summer League from July 12 to July 22.

This is a story about the development of Bronny James and will be updated.
