A run, straight or sequence is a combination of playing cards where cards have consecutive rank values. The cards do not normally need to be in 1 type of suit. However, if they are, this is referred to as a suit sequence.

Open Your Range

Because six-handed play essentially eliminates early positions, you should widen your range.

At a nine-handed table, the first three positions to act preflop – Under-the-Gun, UTG+1 and UTG+2 – are considered early position. Players should open from these positions only with premium hands (AJ suited or higher, pocket Ts or higher).

When there are only six players seated, however, chances for strong opening hands are reduced. Premium hands (A-K, A-Q, pocket Aces, Kings, Queens or Jacks,) occur only 2.1% of the time (56 combinations out of a possible 2,652). So at a 6-Max table, one of these hands will show up roughly once per eight hands dealt. If you're waiting for one of these to open, you'll be in for a long wait.

With only six players at the table, aces and middle pocket pairs are worth much more. Expanding your opening range to include pocket 6s and above, any ace down to A-7, any Broadway combination (e.g. any combination of cards T or above) and all suited aces will give you 228 total opening hands for an opening range of the top 8.6% of hands, which is still conservative in 6-Max. You can also add suited connectors and one-gappers, especially from later positions.

Why A-7?

With nine players dealt into a hand, the odds of any player having an ace are around 83%. Moreover, if you are dealt an ace in a nine-handed game, the odds another player also has an ace are around 69%. This means that for every 1,000 times you are dealt an ace, you will have the only ace 310 times on average, and there will be at least one more ace in the other 690 hands.

With an A-7

against one other player with an ace, you would have the highest kicker 41% of the time, so in those 690 hands, you would be ahead of the other player with an ace 283 times. Combine these statistics and your A-7 would be ahead 593 times in 1,000 hands against other aces or no aces (note that this analysis doesn't include pocket pairs).

With six players dealt into a hand, the odds of a player having an ace drop to 66%. If you have an ace in a six-handed game, the odds are 50% that another player does. For every 1,000 times you receive an ace, you would have the only ace 500 times. In the other 500 hands, you would have the highest kicker 205 times with your 7, meaning A-7 would be ahead 705 times out of 1,000, or 19% higher than in a nine-handed game (again, this does not include pocket pairs, only high cards).

Middle Pocket Pairs

Middle pocket pairs (7s through 9s) also become more valuable. The odds another player has a higher pocket pair are reduced dramatically when playing six-handed. If you have pocket 7s at a nine-handed table, the odds are 24.6% that another player has a higher pocket pair. In other words, one in every four times you have pocket sevens you will be dominated by a player with a higher pocket pair.

At a six-handed table, however, the odds another player has a higher pocket pair are reduced to 16.1% – a drop of 52.7 percent. For pocket 9s, the odds drop from 18.3% to 11.7%, or a 56.4% reduction.

Chance of another player having a higher pocket pair

Your Pocket Pair

9-Handed	6-Handed	Difference	6-6	24.7%	18.0%	52.2%	7-7	24.6%	16.1%	52.8%	8-8	21.4%
				13.9%	54.0%	9-9	18.3%	11.7%	56.4%

This analysis does not take overcards into account, but does show that mid-range pocket pairs are more valuable pre-flop when playing six-handed.

Calling Preflop

Some players believe calling a pre-flop raise is a bad move, and that you should always either fold or re-raise. Fight fire with fire. They've probably not played a lot of 6-Max.

Calling pre-flop, especially if you have position over the aggressor, is a solid play in 6-Max if you are playing a hand from the bottom of your range or a speculative hand like suited connectors or one-gappers. There is a good chance the player before you has opened wider than normal, so it makes sense to take a chance to see if you can connect with a flop as well, especially if the price is right.

Calling will also help you avoid some dangerous situations pre-flop. The propensity for some players to be overly aggressive in 6-Max could force you to make many more big pre-flop decisions than you would face in a nine-handed game.

Nigel Farage acusado de islamofobia en su primera entrevista electoral Nigel Farage ha sido criticado por utilizar su primera entrevista electoral para "propagar islamofobia, odio y comentarios divisivos" después de afirmar que un número creciente de musulmanes no comparte los valores británicos.

El presidente honorario del partido Reform UK desató una oleada de críticas el domingo al alegar que Rishi Sunak había permitido la entrada de "más personas en el país que van a luchar contra los valores británicos" que cualquier otro líder del Reino Unido antes que él.

Hablando en Sky News' Sunday Morning with Trevor Phillips, el exlíder del UKIP dijo: "Tenemos un número creciente de jóvenes en este país que no se suscriben a los valores británicos, [que] en realidad lo odian en gran medida".

Cuando se le preguntó si se refería a los musulmanes, Farage respondió: "Sí, lo somos... Y lamento decir que algunas de las encuestas recientes dicen que el 46% de los musulmanes británicos apoyan a Hamas – apoyan a una organización terrorista que está prohibida en este país".

Plaid Cymru y Momentum, el grupo de campaña de base del Partido Laborista, describieron sus comentarios como un ejemplo de "islamofobia manifiesta".

Rhun ap Iorwerth, líder de Plaid Cymru, dijo: "Nigel Farage no debería permitírsele difundir islamofobia y odio en nuestras pantallas de televisión. Es un extremista que ha permitido corroer nuestra política durante mucho tiempo.

"Plaid Cymru reafirma nuestro compromiso de erradicar todas las formas de islamofobia, antisemitismo, racismo e intolerancia. Animamos a todos los partidos de esta elección a que hagan campaña sobre política y ideas, no sobre miedos y prejuicios".

La diputada liberal demócrata Daisy Cooper dijo: "Este es un intento ruin de dividir nuestras comunidades en un intento desesperado de llamar la atención. No es de extrañar que Nigel Farage haya perdido en las urnas siete veces.

"Rishi Sunak debe condenar estos comentarios divisivos y descartar que Farage se reincorpore al Partido Conservador".

Zara Mohammed, secretaria general del Consejo Musulmán de Gran Bretaña, dijo que Farage hacía lo que mejor sabía, expresando "horriblemente el islamofobia, el racismo y el lenguaje lleno de odio de la desinformación".

En la misma entrevista, Farage dijo que todavía tenía "una última carta por jugar" y confirmó que tiene la intención de presentarse como candidato a diputado en el futuro, a pesar de sentirse "extremadamente decepcionado" por la decisión de Sunak de convocar elecciones anticipadas el 4 de julio.

Quedó claro que el partido Reformaría centraría su campaña en su propuesta de reducir la inmigración.

Farage continuó comparando lo integrados que estaban las personas que habían llegado de las Indias Occidentales en la sociedad británica en comparación con los musulmanes, afirmando que el primer grupo había "historia compartida, cultura compartida y religión compartida" en muchos casos.

Aceptó que la mayoría de la comunidad de las Indias Occidentales hablaba inglés, pero añadió: "Puedo llevarlo a calles en Oldham donde literalmente nadie habla inglés".

Una fuente laborista dijo que los Conservadores y el partido Reform eran "dos caras de la misma moneda rota, subiendo el tono sin ofrecer soluciones reales".

Farage se presentó como candidato del UKIP en cinco elecciones generales y dos elecciones parciales anteriores. Su última campaña fue en el distrito electoral de South Thanet en 2024, donde obtuvo más de 16.000 votos.

Reflexionando sobre su decisión de no presentarse en esta elección, Farage dijo a GB News: "He elegido querer ser parte del debate nacional, no solo en una circunscripción, y lo seré, y créanme, voy a hacer todo lo posible por exponer algunas de las absolutas tonterías que se están discutiendo sobre inmigración y economía".
